Our Father Which Art In Heaven

Publisher's Note: This editorial is not intended to establish myself as an historian. It is merely to give my views on the recent ruling by the Supreme Court of the United States.

History books have been written stating that Rome was a great nation. Reading about this empire, one will find that the fall of Rome could be based on four factors:

1. When taxes reached an unbearable high.
2. When a portion of tax money was used for military purposes.
3. When the morals of the country reached a low ebb.
4. and . . . not knowing the Almighty God.

For a number of years I have felt that the United States of America, the greatest nation in the world, has been steadily approaching these four points.

I have assured myself that possibly the first three conditions could exist, but never in my life would I see the reality of the fourth.

We now have a new ruling issued by the highest office in the land.

"The Supreme Court of the United States declared unconstitutional on the seventeenth day of June, in the year of our Lord, 1963, use of Bible readings and recitation of the Lord's Prayer in public schools." The decision was 8-1.

Every city, county, state and federal government, including the Supreme Court, opens its meetings with an invocation or prayer, as well as fraternal organizations.

We as adults recognize the presence of God at all gatherings — should we take this privilege from our children?

My hat is off to Justice Stewart, who cast the only dissenting vote.

NOTICE: Garey Carr, esteemed editor and advisor of La Laguna Revue will take a vacation beginning July 1. Mr. Carr has not had one day's vacation since the magazine came into existence in November of 1961. He has not only written each feature story, but on occasion has proof-read them also. Many photographs that appeared in the magazine were taken by Mr. Carr. He not only needs a vacation, he deserves one.

The magazine will be edited by the Associate Editor, Dolores Mayhall, under the auspices of Mr. Carr. Stories, photographs, and items of interest will be welcomed from all readers. Call the Mayhall Print Shop, home of La Laguna Revue, either in Perris or Elsinore about news.

Tri-Valley riders' weekend campout

Tri-Valley Riders had their ups and downs on Saturday and Sunday, June 15-16. 10,831 feet to be exact over steep roads and trails to the peak of Mt. San Jacinto.

The weekend event closed out several months of public invited rides by the club. Early Saturday morning, trail boss Mel Smith left Perris with 13 riders and horses towards Humber Park via Idyllwild. Here the road ends and the State Riding and Hiking Trails begin.

Pack animals were loaded with personal gear carried on individual horses. In 1½ hours the group climbed over a thousand feet to the base camp at Skunk Cabbage Meadow (7500 feet). One mishap was encountered on the way up when Frank Pettit had to jump from a nervous horse that left the trail. One end over end roll and two barrel rolls and the horse ended wedged in two trees some 70 feet down the mountain. Pettit, Mel Smith and Bill Venable ripped limbs with bare hands to free the animal. Upon bringing the steed to the trail it had only minor cuts and scratches. Pettit resaddled and rode to base camp.

After unpacking the group rode to Long Valley for a two hour jaunt. Returning a tent was set up for the ladies, with the men using the perennial sleeping bags. At dusk the deer came to the meadow and grazed with the horses. In the early morn a group of coyotes gave a 20-30 minute rendition for the folks.

Sunday saw the big 5½ hour ride to the peak. On the way the group stopped at Desert View (8500 feet), sighting from Palm Springs to past the Coachella Valley. At 8600 feet the horsemen took in the top of the new tramway being built near Palm Springs. A breath-taking sight the public will be enjoying soon. At the peak the pilots view of Riverside and suburbs was a scene to behold.

Tim Pettit, Mel Smith, and Bill Venable in background, with Bee Smith sitting. The happy looks come from the fact they achieved their goal.

As the sun began to set thirteen pleased and tired individuals packed up for the last time and aimed for the switch-backs toward home. On the trek were: Mr. and Mrs. Mel Smith, Ray Muno, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pettit and son Tim, and Ernie Elmer Jr., all from Perris. From Elsinore, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Venable, Merle Engverson and son Eric, and Joan Kahn; and M. "Buzz" Keyton of Riverside. ■

Construction is well under-way on the new Tastee Freeze Drive In, located on Fourth Street in Perris. Grand Opening slated for sometime in June.

Dawn Renner home on the range

Dawn Marie Renner is home on the range — the kitchen range, that is, and Kenneth Barry Johnson is saying "next" in Cecil's Barber Shop down Indio way.

The couple were married June 6 at an 8 p.m. ceremony at St. Francis Chapel in Riverside Mission Inn.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dawn Paxton Renner of Menifee Valley and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Neal Johnson of Indio.

Following the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Fred L. Whitermore, a reception for 100 guests was held on the patio at the chapel and the couple left for a honeymoon at Yellowstone National Park.

Given in marriage by her brother, Victor Renner, the bride wore a floor length gown of bouffant Chantilly lace over taffeta, edged with lace scallops and featuring a chapel length train.

The fitted bodice was accented with a Sabrina neckline and lace scallops with a sprinkling of iridescent sequins.

Faye Marie Taylor, the bride's aunt, was maid of honor and wore a gown of deep violet shade and carried carnations and cymbidium.

Bridesmaids Sylvia Jackson and Texana Morgan of Menifee, and JoAnn Schulte of Elsinore, wore lavender organza and carried orchids and carnations.

Best man was Billy Neal Johnson of Indio, the bridegroom's brother and another brother, Bobby Ray Johnson, served as usher.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barry Johnson
... Dawn Marie Renner

Other ushers were Joe Acosta of Indio and Colin Peters of Mecca.

The bride graduated from Elsinore Union High School in 1961 and was a member of Murrieta Live Wire 4-H Club for a number of years. She was an experienced horsewoman and raised and broke horses at her ranch home following graduation from high school. She won many honors at horse shows in Riverside County.

The bridegroom is a 1961 graduate of Coachella Valley High School and attended San Bernardino Barber College. He is a member of the Yucca Valley Play House Players in Yucca Valley and has appeared in a number of productions.

He is presently employed as a barber in Indio.

The couple have returned from their wedding trip and are now at home in Indio. ■

Shoot when you're ready sergeant!

There has been a lot of talk by outsiders to the effect that Elsinore is not ready to receive all the people who will flock to the town when the lake is filled with water and we must admit the city is in no condition to house the Republican National Convention or an American Legion affair on a national basis but there are a lot of signs lately which indicate the old town is awakening to the fact and is getting ready for the deluge.

Take a look, for example, at some of the business houses in town. The Firestone Store has doubled its space during the past year and has more than doubled its stock; the Public Market has done a remodeling job; the Franklin Store has added many new shelves and increased its stock; Mrs. David Richens, who formerly operated a floral shop in the Post Office building some five years ago, has returned to open an attractive floral shop at 156 North Main Street where she will cater to your needs either coming in or going out . . . and between times; then there is the remodeling job going on at our own print shop, the home of La Laguna Revue, and this is only taking in Main Street.

Around the corner on Graham Avenue the Rainbow Cafe is catering to the gourmets of the town at reasonable prices and the Recreation Cafe, a few doors west, has enlarged its capacity to take care of the public. And a major improvement job has been going on at the Sportsman's Lodge just east of town.

There are signs of getting ready, all right, but it would appear that the building of homes is dragging its feet. With water in the lake next summer there will be demands for homes near the lake but it is a safe bet that, when water starts to flow into the lake, building will get under way.

From all indications Elsinore is headed for a big boom in 1964. With the lake filled with water and the hotels well supplied with mineral water Elsinore will come into its own again as a resort city and the crowds that visited the city in the 1920's and 30's will be a drop in a bucket to the people who will line the shores of Lake Elsinore in 1964.

Never in the history of the state has there been the craze for boating that there is today and we predict that Lake Elsinore will not be able to hold the boats brought here for launching when word goes out that water is in the lake.

Thousands of people in Southern California now travel an average of 200 miles to launch their boats in the Colorado River or the Salton Sea and you can well imagine the play Lake Elsinore will get from Los Angeles alone, being the nearest body of water, with the exception of the ocean.

So regardless of present appearances, don't sell Elsinore short, when the lake is filled with water Elsinore will be ready. ■

Life begins at 65

From darkness to light — and a new career

Ten years of blindness, followed by the regaining of her sight and the launching of a new career as a professional writer — that's the story of Martha Swearingen of Hemet, formerly of Kansas City, Mo.

It's the story of the caterpillar that goes into darkness for a period of time and emerges a beautiful butterfly, with this difference: Martha was a butterfly when she went into that state of darkness.

For ten years she was forced to read Braille but fortunately she was able to secure the service of the Talking Book Machine, a free service to the blind from the Library of Congress, and so was able to continue a life long habit of good reading.

It was during this period of darkness that Martha resolved to be a professional writer. "If others could do it—so could she."

Writing was not entirely new to Martha. While a student at Southwest Missouri State College at Springfield (1911-12) she had served as the first editor of the school magazine, Southwest Standard, but she made no further excursion into letters until January, 1956, when through prayer she recovered her sight enough to be able, with a very special lens, to read and correct her typing.

In the summer of 1956 she was fitted with the "Clear Image" lens and thus equipped she was able to find her way around without the aid of a companion.

After prayerful study she was led to attend the writing class at the YWCA

Mrs. Dick Swearingen, 25124 Yale St., Hemet, a member of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc., who has recently transferred her membership to the Hemet Branch.

and a year later her sight had improved to a point where she could be fitted with ordinary bi-focal lens.

While enrolled in the article writing class her first assignment sold immediately to Sunday Features of the Kansas City Star, and this success was followed by acceptance during the year of 44 more articles by newspapers, including The Star, The Christian Science Monitor and the Milwaukee Journal.

Four juvenile stories were sold to Wee Wisdom, Steps, Journey's, and Children's Activities, all of which were illustrated with photographs or drawings.

In 1958 Martha attended her first writer's conference, the Christian Writers and Editors Conference, at Green Lake, Wisconsin, and the following summer, on a scholarship, she studied at Huckleberry Workshop, Inc., Hendersonville, North Carolina.

Martha is a member of the National League of American Pen Women, Inc., and was secretary of the Kansas City Westport Branch of the organization for many years. She is also a member of the Missouri Press Women.

In October of 1962 Martha and her husband Dick decided to go west and on their first visit to Hemet

Heading for the Big Time

Murrieta — a four-fireplug town

Murrieta is on the march. It now boasts of four shiney new red fireplugs, or hydrants, which have brought joy to the hearts of the firechief, his gallant crew of volunteer firemen, the residents of the congested district, and all the stray dogs in the town.

It all began last January when the voters of Murrieta cast their votes in favor of forming the Murrieta County Water District only to learn through Judge James M. Carter of the United States District Court in San Diego, that the District would be able to serve only imported water and could not take water from the underlying basin. The judge ruled that all the water in the basin and been appropriated and there is no new water to appropriate.

The judge did say, however, that "each of you as land owners have good water rights because you overlie a lot of water.

There is not much legal difference between what we call a riparian and an overlying right. You actually have overlying rights over a basin.

"If you pool your rights and attempt to use existing wells or develop some of the wells to a greater depth and set up a distribution system, you are exercising the rights you already have, your overlying rights, and you are merely setting up a businesslike economical setup to pump from one or two wells and to pipe it around for domestic use, and everybody gets water. That seems to me the route you should go . . ."

Having been given the green light a group of dedicated citizens lost no time in forming the Murrieta Mutual Water Company and that's the company which has brought joy to the town of Murrieta.

Some months ago C. W. Holiday bought the property at the northwest corner of Washington and B streets, which formerly belonged to Urban Tarwater. He remodeled the old stone Fire Chief Raymond Thompson inspects the No. 1 well, the present water supply for the town of Murrieta.

The Chief points to the first fire hydrant installed at the corner of Washington and Juniper Streets. Judge Vernon Hilliard of the Murrieta Justice Court looks on.

Here's No. 2 Fire hydrant at the corner of First Avenue and B streets. Mrs. Olga Gordon, secretary-treasurer of the Mutual Company talks it over with the Fire Chief.

We are at Juniper and Plum streets, a stone's throw from the Town Hall, where No. 3 hydrant is in evidence.

And here's No. 54 hydrant at the corner of Ivy and Plum streets.

building into a class A structure which he leased to Mel Miller of the Burnham General Merchandise Store. At the rear of the store he drilled a well on a 25 by 50 foot lot and this well, at 307 feet, proved to be a 90 inch or better well by actual test.

The Murrieta Mutual Water Company has purchased this property which includes a pump and a standby generator and it is from this point that the company is distributing its water.

Unit No. 1 is in and has 31 meters installed while Unit No. 2 has 22 customers with more on the way.

Prior to the Mutual's entry into the field each individual lot owner was forced to drill his own well and establish his own pump and water system at a cost running all the way from $1000 minimum to more than $2000 in many cases.

With lots selling around $500 the buyer was forced to lay out an average of $1500 more in order to have water, which meant that the home builder had an investment of $2000 or more for his lot with water, before he even started

Why incorporation

Editor's Note: Petitions were being circulated during June among property owners in Lakeland Village calling for an election to decide whether the area south and west of Lake Elsinore should be incorporated into a city to be called Lakeland.

We requested Boomer Lee, Lakeland Village realtor and one of the proponents of the incorporation plan to set forth in writing some of the advantages to be gained by becoming a city.

Here is Mr. Lee's answer:

By BOOMER LEE

The editor of La Laguna Revue asked me to write three or four hundred words on the above subject. The WHY has been best set forth in a report of The Mangrove Corporation of Los Angeles in analyzing the problem for another area.

Arguments favoring incorporation:

(1) Incorporation will provide a city government through which the community can express itself, meet its problems, and supply the necessary services.

(2) Cities are traditionally more responsive than counties to the needs of urban communities.

(3) Cities possess the police power and are thus able to take action against nuisances, etc., that would not be possible in the unincorporated area.

(4) A city is able to plan for its future growth and to control its land use.

(5) Incorporation can provide the flexibility to improve and increase public service.

(6) Incorporation can improve the functioning of democratic processes by coordinating the public services being supplied separately by several special districts under one political leadership.

(7) Incorporation will result in more effective citizen control of government.

(8) Incorporation increases a community's political effectiveness and confers added powers for self determination of local affairs. Instead of having to rely for political representation upon a single member of the five-man County Board of Supervisors, the community will be able to choose its own governing body, the City Council.

(9) A community represented by a city government is in good position to meet the competition of other municipalities in the struggle to attract new business, whereas an unincorporated community is at a disadvantage.

(10) Separate incorporation may help to preserve the unity and pride of a community, as well as its individuality.

(11) If it appears likely that nearby cities may annex any portions of an unincorporated community, and if the community does not wish to happen, separate incorporation will provide effective protection.

(12) the act of incorporation is not irrevocable. ■

Pat Stanson's farewell party

Pat Stanson attended kindergarten in Elsinore in 1952, then went away, only to return as a fourth grader, and has been here ever since. She has now taken up her higher learning in Barstow and was given a farewell surprise party May 29 by a score of her school mates.

Pat Stanson

The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wally Haun. Pat was told it was to be a birthday party for Marilyn Mitchell and took an active part in the preparations, even selecting many of the presents which were later presented to her.

Pat's mother, Betty Stanson, served as Elsinore Chamber of Commerce secretary and manager for the past year. Pat's father, Master Sergeant Earl Edward Stanson, has been transferred to Barstow which made it necessary for the Stansons to sell their Elsinore home and move to Barstow with their five children, Pat, Michael, Steven, Daniel and Anne. ■

Hemet Garden Club holds annual picnic

Fifty persons, including members of the Garden Club of the Hemet Woman's Club, and their husbands, held their annual picnic May 11 in Murrieta.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Frank Headley, chairman of the Garden and Beautification Department of the Club and was given at the ranch home of the Garey Carrs. Mrs. Carr is De Anza District chairman of Gardens and Beautification of the Federation of Womens Clubs.

Lunch was served on tables placed under the trees on the expansive lawn. Croquet, ping pong and other games were provided for the guests.

Organ music and singing was enjoyed indoors during the afternoon while some of the guests went for short hikes.

It is hoped the club will return next year. ■

Gala affair for teachers

The chilly weather failed to dampen the spirits of the staff and their spouses of the Elsinore Union High School as they gathered in the backyard of the Al Swan home for a final get together before the end of the school year.

The steaks were under the supervision of Coach Chef Jim Thompson. Bob Mabey's recent appendectomy did not seem to bother his appetite and "Colonel" Adam Moses was observed returning for seconds. ■

Katherine Keller, Kathleen Stiles and spouse (we couldn't remember his first name), Jim Keller, Louise Swinney and Jean Thompson seem to be more interested in the food than in Al Swan and his new camera.

Wes Pollard, Irene Lasater, Berdene Swan, Jim and Jean Thompson and Bob and Elaine Koss appear to be the kind of subjects Al enjoys. He said "smile" and they did.

The Chow Line — This line consists of some of the finest people in Elsinore, our teachers. May you all enjoy your vacation.

Correction: In the June, 1963 issue we transposed two names of two of the Elsinore Union High School graduates. Let us introduce once more to you: Wayne Hendrickson and Ted Barrett Hendricks. ■

Dennis Guler

Dennis Martin Guler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay V. Guler of 30291 Hill Avenue in Elsinore, will leave Elsinore the last week of June to fulfill a dream of six years.

He will tour London, Stratford-on-Avon, Killarney, Dublin, Eidenburgh and Paris—the hard way—via la bicycle. Traveling with Dennis on this trip will be seven other students from various parts of the United States and a trained guide. The tour is under the auspices of the American Youth Hostels, Inc.

Dennis's itinerary for the British Isles trip is July 2, depart on air charter from Newark Airport; July 3-5, London; July 6, Henley on Thames (Rail: London-Windsor); July 7, Charlbury; July 8, Stow on Wold; July 9-10, Stratford on Avon.

There is no need for us to write any more on the trip because Dennis has agreed to write a series of articles for La Laguna Revue and will send photos of the various attractions. That way all of us can "Tour the British Isles through the eyes of Dennis Guler."

PRISIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE ELSINORE WOMAN'S CLUB

Betty turns in her gavel

As I send out my last President's message to you I find it hard to believe that two years have passed so quickly.

I am most grateful for having had the opportunity to serve as president of so fine a club with its long record of social, cultural and civic activities.

It has been a great pleasure to work and to play with all of you, and, as I join the ranks of the past presidents, I extend my best wishes to Irene and her corps of officers.

Sincerely,
Betty James

Dennis is a graduate of Elsinore Union High School, class of 1963. He has attended schools in Glendora, Pomona and Downey prior to moving to Elsinore.

The Revue Staff is very proud of Dennis and will look forward not only to his articles and photos but to his return in September. Adios, Dennis. ■

Farm Bureau members stage picnic

Those hardy members of the Elsinore Farm Bureau, who would rather eat outdoors than in, held their installation ceremony of new officers in the State Park Thursday evening, June 11 in the form of a picnic.

It was a potluck affair with fried chicken the piece de resistance, and everybody brought fried chicken.

Rev. Joe Thompson of the First Methodist Church of Elsinore, was on hand to give the invocation and after filling himself with fried chicken made a mad dash to the Elsinore High School to open the school's recognition night with an invocation for the benefit of the young graduates.

The new officers for the 1963-64 term of the Farm Bureau are: Bert Wilson, president; Warren Hillis, vice-president and Mrs. Kenneth Howell, secretary and treasurer.

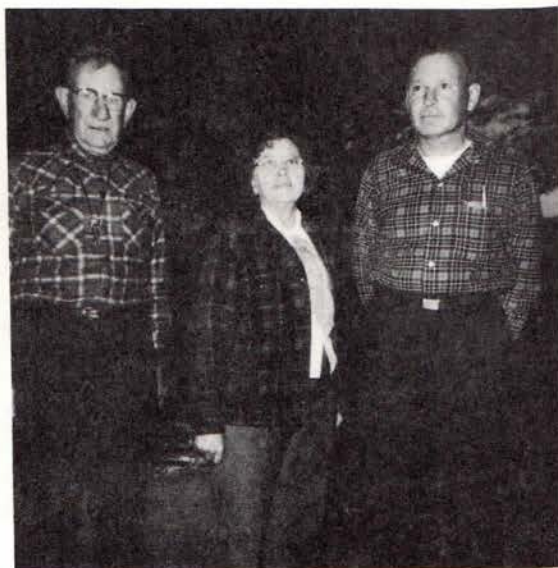

Arthur Ellsworth, newly elected Executive Secretary of the Riverside County Farm Bureau who made his first appearance at a farm bureau meeting June 11.

The outgoing officers were: Bert Wilson, president, (only he doesn't go out but will serve a second stretch) Glenn Parry, vice-president; and Grace Evans, who has served the bureau eight years as secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. Martin (Grace) Evans will be greatly missed by the bureau after her long term in office but she and her family are moving to Vista where she will no doubt take an active part in Vista's Farm Bureau Center.

Mrs. Evans voiced her appreciation and well

Linda Papini, Elsinore's leading exponent of beauty, culture and dance, gave a sample of her genius as an instructor on May 17 and 18 when she rounded up 60 of her pupils from Elsinore, Perris, Corona and Sunnymead, and put them through their paces in a twin bill, two-city exhibition.

The show opened in Perris on the 17th and played Elsinore the following day. Perris Junior Woman's Club sponsored the opening show while the Elsinore Beta Sigma Phi picked up the tab for the Elsinore turnout.

The three musical numbers were taken from the Broadway Musical and motion picture "West Side Story" and while the cast was not as experienced as some that have appeared on Broadway, nevertheless it was called an outstanding hit by the large audience, composed mostly of mothers, aunts, grandmothers and a few proud fathers of members of the cast.

But don't get the idea that Linda deals only with juvenile classes. She teaches dancing to all ages from kindergarten to men in their dotage who feel that they have set some kind of a record when they make it once around the ball room on their own power.

Linda also coaches candidates for the Queen Scheherazade contest teach-

Her remodeling factory is located in Elsinore and if you have the bad habit of eating with your knife or feel uncomfortable in shoes join one of the summer classes now starting and maybe you too can become Queen Scheherazade or at least Miss Sometown in the valley. ■

The home is the heart and hope of the nation

By DAVID MARCH

Since the creation of life, man has sought a place in which to live, a dwelling in which he would be protected from the cold, an abode in which he could shelter his family from all outside dangers. Finally, he decided that the caves he had been living in did not afford enough protection, and he invented the house. Now, in this day and age, houses have been improved by modern man until they have become marvels of architecture and decoration. Yet, modern man with all his advances has made a serious error. He has confused a house with a home. A house is a prized possession, yes, but it is merely a place in which we live. A building with four walls and a roof is not a home.

A house is never a home unless it has four necessary furnishings. Each house containing these furnishings becomes a new hope for our nation. Within each home there should be the straight-backed chair of guidance which exerts no unwanted pressure, yet enables us to grow straight and tall. Also desired is the unbreakable vase of patience, which, no matter how many times it is upset, never shatters. One of the most important necessities is the hearth of love. This quality often goes unnoticed until the outside world becomes cold and the ever-glowing coals spring to life again. The most elemental need is that of a good foundation of parents who secure the other three. A house with all of these qualities becomes a home, the source of useful citizens, the supreme necessity, the heart and hope of our nation. ■

Bells ring out for freedom

When you hear the bells ringing at 11 a.m. Daylight Saving Time, on the Fourth of July, it will not be a fire or an invasion, but a nationwide ceremony to "ring out for Freedom" and awaken patriotism in our country.

The affair is being sponsored by the Masonic Lodges throughout the United States and the bells will be rung simultaneously beginning at 2 p.m. Eastern Daylight Saving time which will be 11 a.m. on the Pacific Coast.

All churches, schools, and individuals possessing a bell are urged to ring them for a period of five minutes beginning at 11 a.m. ■

Bingo takes a holiday

A man who has been saying to his customers "come back again" for more than ten years has put aside his bottle of Windex and paper towels and is now Sales and Service Manager for Lyle Hodges' Ford Agency. We refer to M. D. Haskell, owner of Bingo's Richfield Station on South Main St. in Elsinore.

For all these years, and it could be 16 years, instead of ten, Bingo Haskell could be seen within sprinting distance of his pumps, seven days a week, rain or shine.

Bingo was the first person we met in Elsinore. We were on our way, with a road map, seeking to find the town of Murrieta when we stopped at Bingo's Service Station to fill up on gas. He gave us directions, we found a piece of land we liked, bought it, built a house the next year, and have been here ever since.

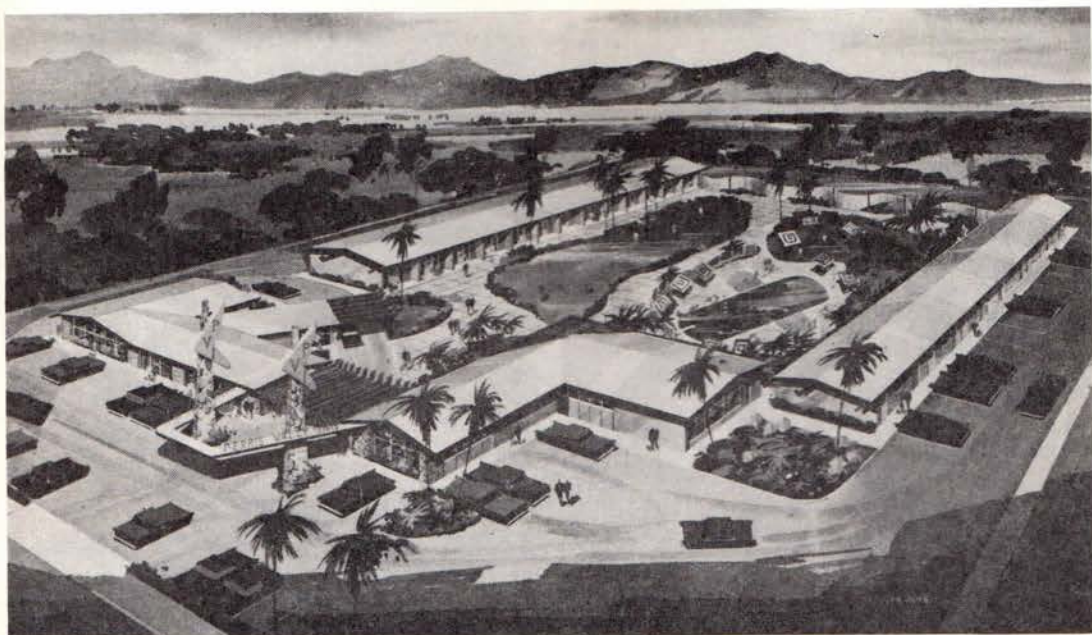

That was nine years ago but we will never forget his words of advice at parting: "Come back again" . . . and we did. ■

Esther Clapp stages 3-act Hawaiian musical

Sketch made in Hawaii by Esther Clapp

One of those all-you-can-eat-for-a-stated-amount affairs, was given Sunday, June 9, under a true Hawaiian setting at the home of Esther Clapp, on West Grand Avenue, Lakeland Village.

It was called a Hawaiian Luau and was put on in three sections, the first starting at 2 p.m., followed by another at 4 p.m. and the final feeding at 6 o'clock.

Judging from the crowd that turned up for the first serving it looked like it was going to be tough picking for the third class passengers.

It was a combination musical, art exhibit and dinner and nearly all attending were costumed in true Hawaiian style. Each guest was the recipient of a Hawaiian lei together with a welcoming kiss which greatly reduced the cost of the tab in the minds of the male guests.

The grounds were lined with paintings supplied by members of the Elsinore Valley Art Center, a pet project of Esther Clapp.

Chief among the entertainers were: Rosanne Ashbridge, Fritzi Gediman, Art Gediman, the singing lawyer, and Mrs. Anna Petrinic.

Hula dancing was supplied by Lorraine Plano in a very professional act. This popular girl improves with each performance.

Aside from the music and dancing the party was very much an art exhibit as the local artists were well represented in paintings hung throughout the grounds.

The many trees surrounding the house were all in bloom, if not by Mother Nature then by the artistic hands of Esther Clapp who fashioned blossoms and flowers of many colors, many of them true natives of Hawaii, and hung them on the trees.

Her many charcoal sketches, made while in Hawaii, were of particular interest.

It was another very successful party, credited to this fine artist, Esther Clapp.

"Now has come the hour — sad of parting . . . Aloha-Oe." ■

Lorraine Plano goes into her dance

Rosanne Ashbridge entertained with her accordion and presented a lei to each guest and that wasn't all she presented.

Here is the group of entertainers

And no party is complete without Ramona Salisbury.

Nearly all the guests arrived in Hawaiian costume.

Even the yard was designed to look like a spot in Hawaii.

Home Extension groups meet in park

Seventy-five members of the Wildomar Home Extension Group and the Sedco Hills University Extension Group held their annual picnic and joint installation of officers June 6 at the State Park. The two groups alternate each year as hostess and this year it was the Wildomar group's turn to do the honors and never was there more fried chicken piled on a single serving table.

The husbands were invited guests and did their part in consuming the Roman banquet.

Elizabeth Tarr was installing officer and master of ceremonies and did an outstanding job in the dual role.

The new 1963-64 officers from Wildomar are: Mrs. Kenneth Howell, president; Mrs. A. W. Bauer, vice-president and Mrs.

Wildomar officers are 1963-64 (l to r) Mrs. Kenneth Howell, president; Mrs. A. W. Bauer, v.p.; Mrs. Harold Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Sedco officers for 1963-64 (l to r) Mrs. Warren Hillis, president; Mrs. Walter R. Gregory, secretary; Mrs. Frank Waring, treasurer.

Harold Smith, secretary-treasurer.

The new officers for the Sedco Group are: Mrs. Warren Hillis, president; Mrs. Walter R. Gregory, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Waring, treasurer.

As the primary purpose of the Home Extension Groups is to learn the latest arts in homemaking, Mrs. Tarr and her assistant Grace Evans, placed merit badges around the neck of each incoming officer. The poem attached to the pretty net pompoms was written by Mrs. Tarr and very cleverly gave the uses of the "Thing."

The incoming presidents were each presented with clubs adorned with large bows of net, in place of gavels, in order that they

Elsinore class is largest

The largest class in the history of Elsinore Elementary School, 104 members, graduated Friday, June 14. The exercises were held at the Elsinore High School Cass Memorial Stadium.

Fifty-two boys and fifty-two girls received their diplomas from Elmer Ebersole, president, and Thomas Wilks Jr., vice president of the Board of Trustees of the Elsinore Union School District. Lloyd R. Thompson, principal presented the class for graduation.

Robert Manthey gave the valedictorian address. Paula Kapp and Cindy Klarer gave the salutatorian addresses. Earl Dixon led the flag salute, followed by the Rev. Joseph Thompson, minister of the First Methodist Church with the invocation.

Lance Boggs, Rebecca Sandvig, and Lupe Cassilas gave the class history. William Fagan, out-going student body president, presented the 1963 class gift to the school, which was accepted by Larry Manthey, incoming student body president.

Walter Willett, of Lynn Mort Post 200, American Legion, presented the Legion Constitution award.

The Reverend Daniel Wagner, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the benediction.

The class chose "Learn-ing for Success" as its class motto, and blue and silver as its class colors. Photos of the class appear elsewhere in this issue. ■

State Park gets new name

It is no longer Lake Elsinore State Park and there will be no camping there this summer, according to Lyle Watson, park superintendent. The official title is now Lake Elsinore State Recreation Area and while picnickers will be welcome there will be no more overnight campers.

Plans are being made to keep the area available for the crowds that will invade the park when the lake is filled with water and that time doesn't seem too distant at the moment. ■

Be careful about ordering English soup in an Italian restaurant. Zupa inglese (English soup) is not what you might expect. It's a sponge cake steeped in rum and custard. . . . Ugh . . . can you imagine, Dolores??? ■

Relics with a story

Don't throw it away—give it to Maynard

At first glance the above photograph might impress one as being a conducted tour of a junk yard but to H. H. Maynard of 25086 Jefferson Street, Murrieta, there is a story behind each piece he has collected.

While all of the objects do not qualify as antiques, not having been made prior to 1830, yet nearly all are relics of the past and have a meaning to Maynard.

Maynard, now in his seventies, is a retired bridge builder for the railroads and spent many years as a prospector. You may discover tools of his trade among the collection.

The bowl and pitcher on the card table was standard equipment for small town hotels not too many years ago and the comfortable chair with a hole in it, shown in the foreground is still in style in many homes where there are children.

Maynard has made plans for the future. He expects to buy a large trailer house and move all the junk to Arizona where he will set up some sort of a memorial for his wife, whom he lost some two years ago while in Whittier. He will add to the collection, from time to time, and put the whole works on display in the trailer where the public may view it without charge.

Well, it's every man to his own taste. As for us, we will stick to our hobby of collecting cigar bands. ■

Recognition Night at Elsinore High School

June 11 was a big night in the lives of students of Elsinore High School — it was "Recognition Night," the night they all appear to see what Santa Claus left for them.

The purpose of the program is to recognize and honor students whose scholastic attainment and evidence of leadership give promise of future success.

Rev. Joseph Thompson of the First Methodist Church of Elsinore gave the invocation, followed by the pledge of allegiance, led by Lloyd Hales, retiring student body president.

A new 50-star United States flag was presented to the school by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, represented by Mrs. Evelyn Satter and Mrs. Concha Alonzo.

Honored students, parents and friends who packed the school gymnasium to near capacity, were welcomed by Mr. Albert Swan, high school principal.

Members of next year's student council received their student council pins from the retiring officers and Lloyd Hales, retiring president, was presented a gavel in recognition of his service to the school.

Fourteen students qualified for honor roll trophies by meeting the prescribed requirements of a "B" or better in all subjects during every grading period. Last year only three students accomplished this feat. Students receiving trophies were: Seniors—Mary Ann Cavanaugh, Marianne Longe, Patricia Moniot, Dan Rios, and Sherri Alexander. Juniors — Jeanne Bullard, Shirline Cavanaugh, Sally Walker and Mike Talley. Sophomores—Elizabeth Averill, Marc Berry and Marilyn Mitchell. Freshman — Rose Marie Cionni and David March.

Scholarships in the form of cash awards were presented

Fable of the three bad men

Once upon a time there was a little city located on the north bank of a lake and in this city there were many wells that spouted forth hot mineral water and tourists came from many states to flounder in its curative waters and go their way cured of their ills.

And one day the state authorities (that was when we still had state rights) found to their amazement that there was too much fluoride in the water and the people had been drinking as well as wallowing in the water.

So the state took away the water and decreed that it could not be used for drinking purposes until the fluoride content had been reduced. This made the mayor and his councilmen very sad and the people even sadder and there was loud lamentation among the population.

So the mayor and his councilmen bought a defluoridation plant and there was trouble and the wailing continued, so they mixed the mineral water with water from the river and the wailing was even louder, and the mayor and his councilmen were even sadder than when they first heard about fluorides in the water.

Now there was located on the south bank of this same lake an unincorporated town with a larger population than the city and the city had high hopes of some day annexing this territory as the increase in population would mean added income to the city as taxes which are returned to the cities by the state are computed on a population basis. When word got around that the city would like to annex the town the people of the town rose up in anger and declared they would form their own city.

Now it came to pass that there were three men in the town who were recognized as leaders in the community and they appeared before the people and pointed out that if they consented to annexation to the city there would be an election in the city in April of the following year at which time three of the present councilmen would go out of office and there would be three vacancies to be filled.

If the people from the town would join the city and vote for these three men they would be elected because the majority vote would be vested in the people of the annexed territory.

And after the election the balance of power would be in the hands of these three men from the town and one of their number would be named the mayor.

They pointed out that the destiny of this new great city surrounding the lake would be governed by these three trusted men and it came to pass that their predictions came true and they all lived happily ever afterward.

The moral of this fable is: when you start out to steal a city be sure you win, otherwise you're a bum. ■

Happy Birthday — Sun City

Thousands of residents, soon-to-be residents and prospective residents turned out Sunday June 23, to help Sun City celebrate its first birthday.

During special cake-cutting ceremonies W. Gordon Heath, Webb's operations manager for Sun City, presented keys to Mr. and Mrs. Perry C. Goodman from San Francisco for their home at 28500 Inwood Court.

A tribute to Mrs. Warren

The following poem was written and read by Gertrude Flyte at the Grand Avenue Civic Association's 23rd birthday held in the auditorium May 25, as a tribute to Elizabeth Warren, newly elected president:

Who is it heads our Civic group?
Who is it gives the press a scoop?
Who is it makes the best darn soup?
ELIZABETH!

Who is it keeps our club rooms clean?
Who is it heads the Red Cross team?
Who is it makes her husband beam?
ELIZABETH!

Who rents the hall for weddings gay?
Who serves hors 'd'oeuvres when ladies play?
Who takes her place in programs, pray?
ELIZABETH!

Who calls on members who are ill?
With flowers for their window sill?
Who sometimes spends an hour with Bill?
ELIZABETH!

All honor to our president dear,
Who loves her work—is always here;
Let's give this gal a rousing cheer.
ELIZABETH!!!

Council call building survey

Alvin A. Anderson, city building inspector, has been asked by the City Council of Elsinore to make a survey of buildings in the city that cannot be used and are an eyesore in this town.

When this is done, the city will ask owners to tear them down and clean the property. If the owner does not comply, then the city will do the work and charge the owner, a council spokesman said. ■

The Annual Alumni Dance for graduates of the Perris Union High School was held on Saturday, June 15 at the Municipal Auditorium. Pictured above are Mrs. Felicita Reynolds, who received honors as being the oldest alumni present, not in age but in her year of graduation. To her right is Andy Mora, who traveled from Panama to attend. He received honors for having traveled the farthest to be at the gala affair.

The young man with the bored expression and fishing pole is none other than Milt Mehes. The theme of the dance was "In the Good Old Summer-time" and Milt sat and sat, during the entire affair. My only comment is, what did he catch with that bamboo pole? ■

Russ Stewart receives congratulations and a service pin from Frank Lucking on his ten years of service to the local utility company. The award was made at the employees' banquet held at the Statler Youth Center recently with approximately sixty persons in attendance. Mr. Lucking is the Callectric Vice President and Commercial Manager. Mr. Stewart was not only the honoree, but the chef for the affair.

The members of the Quail Valley Country Club are planning a big affair for the 4th of July weekend. On Thursday, the 4th, a barbecue beginning at 2:30 p.m. will take place. In the cool of the evening a dance will be held. On Saturday evening the Fireman's Ball will commence at 9:00. Sounds like fun and food. To be certain they have more than enough food for all they are asking that you drop a card to them at Route 1, Romoland, and give the chefs-in-charge an idea of how much food to prepare. See you there!

Glen Casner of Perris was in the office recently and he and I were looking at some photos he had taken and these are some that I thought were particularly interesting.

Above is a view of some of the shoppers at the Moonlight Sale held by Kirk's Variety store sometime in May. From all I heard about the sale it was the first ever held and turned out to be a huge success.

The ready-mix truck from Perris Concrete Company is busy getting the cement poured for the new lights to be installed in the city of Perris and out to the freeways. (For the next moonlight sale, we can call it a Streetlight Sale.)

Some of the graduates of the Perris Union High School. What I would like to know it—"what is so interesting?" Could it possibly be Ford Underwood with his million-dollar smile handing Miss Hook her diploma? And then again, what caused the smile?

The Admiral

Summer Session at ENMS

The preregistration of the 1963 Summer Session already shows a forty percent increase greater than 1962, according to President G. R. Conklin. At this time last year there were sixty students enrolled in the secondary school division (grades 7-12). Today there are ninety-nine students registered. It is estimated that there will be at least 110 students in attendance on the first day of the summer session, July 5. ■

Preregistration of academic year

Preregistration figures for the secondary school division for next year were announced today by Colonel G. R. Conklin, President of ENMS.

112 students have completed registration and their parents have returned contracts for 1963-64, emphasized Colonel Conklin.

It is essential that students and their parents obtain registration forms as soon as possible and complete their registration prior to August 1, 1963. At the present rate of enrollment the school will reach its capacity not later than August 15, 1963, and it will be very doubtful whether new students will be able to register and obtain their required and elective subjects after that date, concluded Colonel Conklin. ■

Gilbert Boyer speaks on Literacy

Gilbert Boyer, Regional Director for Latin America for the Laubach Literacy Method, was the main speaker at a meeting held June 17 at the Elsinore Woman's Club.

Mr. Boyer is a concert pianist (and that's pi-an-ist in our book, with accent on the second syllable, even though the Supreme Court may have ruled it is pi-an-ist, with accent on the first syllable).

In addition to being a concert pianist (and Leonard Bernstein, one of the top musicians in this country, pronounces it pi-an-ist, and what's good enough for Bernstein is good enough for us) as we were saying, in addition to being a concert pi-an-ist, he is also a lecturer and he is now engaged in lecturing on Laubach Literacy throughout Latin America, alternating his lectures with a concert on you know what (and I'll bet he calls himself a pi-an-ist).

Prior to the June 17 lecture Mr. and Mrs. Boyer were guests of honor at a smorgasbord served at the home of Mrs. F. W. Flyte on Grand Avenue, Lakeland Village, to which a number of distinguished guests and the press were invited.

May McMillan, director of Southern California Laubach Literacy Fund, Inc., told of the outstanding job the organization is doing in Tijuana, Mexico. Lilia Escandon is the acting director at Project Amigos Laubach Center. Jose Luis Mesa is the Laubach coordinator for the Literacy classes. Classes are conducted in English and Spanish at the Project and Spanish for illiterates in four Colonies.

Laubach Literacy classes have been very active the past year in both Elsinore and Perris and will resume work this fall with the opening of school. ■ wishes to the four past-presidents, Kenneth Howell, John Edwards, Charles Pease and Don Gilbert, with whom she was associated, and vice-presidents Cliff Traver and Glenn Parry, and also Armin Brenner, Farm Bureau Insurance agent for the area and chief coffee pourer at all meetings of the Farm Bureau centers in the district.

Before parting with the group and for the benefit of a number of non-members of the bureau present, Grace Evans pointed out some of the advantages of Farm Bureau membership.

"The Elsinore Farm Bureau has had in the past all types of programs to interest everyone," she said. "Meetings where pictures were shown on poultry, rabbits, beef, walnuts, melons, grains and truck gardening along with lectures by the best authorities on the various topics to be had in the state."

In addition, she called attention to talks by experts who were qualified to give comparative values of gasoline and other fuels, and other experts in the field of cooking who were able to offer professional advice to housewives in the kitchen department.

The bureau sponsors the 4-H boys and girls of Elsinore Valley and once a year the 4-H members respond by showing their learning in sewing, cooking, dress making, bees, pigeons and rabbits and in their skills in raising and grooming cattle for fairs.

Rev. Joe Thompson, shown near center right, gives the invocation at the Farm Bureau picnic.

A roaring fire warmed the area for the picnickers. The gentleman with the baseball cap is Armin Brenner who still wishes he could have been a baseball player instead of an insurance agent. The A on the cap stands for both "Angels" and "Alas."

construction of his house. This cost has made building homes on the average lots prohibitive and has retarded growth in the residential section of the city.

That has all been changed. Residents in the designated areas can now buy in the game at $350 a stack which means that they have a share of stock in the company and while he assigns to the Murrieta Mutual Water Company the overlying water rights incident and appurtenant to his property, this agreement is revokable by the user at any time he does not require water service on his property by the company.

Well, it's now just one big happy family all drinking from the same well and enjoying a better grade of water than can be found in the Colorado River.

Those who are within 1000 feet of the new fire hydrants, which have been placed at strategic points about the town, will enjoy a 50 per cent reduction in their fire insurance, according to Mrs. Olga Gordon, secretary-treasurer of the water company.

Other officers of the mutual company include George C. Contreras, president; Raymond I. Thompson, vice-president; Alvin B. Matteson, business manager; and Clinton W. Elsenpeter, the fifth director. The company was incorporated February 18 and bylaws adopted.

The B and B Pipe Company of San Jacinto dug the ditches and local men under the direction of Fire Chief Raymond Thompson installed some 10,000 feet of six to eight inch water mains of transit pipe.

Sun City Days

A Sun City Days celebration was held June 13, at the ABC Union Store on Tyler Avenue in Riverside, with award of prizes climaxing the event. This was the first of a series of such occasions dedicated to senior citizens of Menifee Valley.

Arrangements for the event were handled in Sun City by George E. Whittington. ■ discovered their dream house, at 2512½ Yale St. The house had been built by Rev. Frank Carter, a retired Christian Church minister, who had passed away the previous year. The Swearingens were able to purchase the property and promptly named it "La Casita Verde" which, according to Martha, means "home for the Swearingens."

Since coming to Hemet, Martha has sold a number of articles and last May entered three items in the creative arts contest, sponsored by the Midwest Regional Conference of the National League of American Pen Women at the Congress Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri, and was awarded three firsts.

Martha has transferred her membership in the N.L.A.P.W. to Hemet, where she is also a member of the Hemet Woman's Club and takes an active part in the Garden Section of the club, writing many articles on gardening. ■

The purchase of four fire hydrants was approved by the Murrieta Fire Protection District board of fire commissioners. ■

Farm Bureau

They are also given an opportunity to show their knowledge of electric appliances and tools.

The annual Christmas party, given by the centers, is something to look forward to. The center buys the turkeys, which are farmed out to various farm member wives who have shown unusual turkey roasting ability, and the other members bring their favorite dish and the turkeys are unstuffed and the members stuffed.

It's an affair never-to-be-forgotten by those who participate. ■

I WAS TIRED OF LIVING ON $8,000 A YEAR

By A SUBSCRIBER

So I Started Reading La Laguna Revue

I work in a small town. Over a period of time I noticed that men who read La Laguna Revue are better dressed, drive better cars, have better homes and eat in better restaurants.

"I'm tired of living on $8,000 a year," I said to myself. (I was only kidding, of course.) "I'm going to see if La Laguna Revue can help ME."

Well, to make a long story short, I tried it and it DID. Since I started reading La Laguna Revue, my income has increased from $8,000 to $8,003 a year. (I got $3 for hauling my neighbor's cans to the dump.)

But that is only part of the story. La Laguna Revue not only tells me how to earn more money (by holding down two jobs instead of one), it also tells me how to get more value for the money I spend (by trading with La Laguna Revue advertisers).

La Laguna Revue is a complete business and social magazine. It has the smallest staff of writers of any magazine of its kind and is not served by all three big press associations.

If you fail to find any helpful hints on how to increase your earnings by reading La Laguna Revue, then contact your neighbor, like I did, maybe he too has something he would like hauled to the dump.

Anyway, it's only $3 a year. Why not give it a try?
