January 15, 1915 Murrieta News

The Pauba Ranch Company employed a Chinaman cook for the ranch house on Santa Rosa. The Chinaman arrived, finding no one to meet him, left his baggage, and started afoot to find the ranch. A few hours later Mr. McGee (Magee?) took the baggage, expecting to overtake the Chinaman and take him on to the ranch. McGee met the Chinaman returning to Murrieta he had been lost and nothing could coax him to go on to the ranch. So now the company is looking for another cook.

Temecula Team wins over Fallbrook

The Fallbrook Baseball Team came to Temecula last Sunday and were defeated, but it was a fine contest. Neither team had a show until the eighth inning, when the locals pounded the pitcher hard.

Temecula started in second inning and scored three runs, but Fallbrook came right back and scored three runs in the fourth. Neither scored until the eighth when Temecula scored three more. John Kane, the crack Venice fielder played center field for Temecula and showed some speed in fielding and batting.

The Temecula fans were all pleased with the playing that the newly organized team showed and believe they will make other teams in the valley go some just as they did last year.

The Oldest Woman in the State Recently Died in Temecula

A few days ago there died at Temecula one of the oldest, if not the oldest woman in California, Lenora Ardilla, who passed at the ripe old age of 113 while sitting her jacal, or woven wind break, weaving a basket. The picture shows her with her daughter, aged 80, and two great grandchildren bright and well educated little Indian girls.

hough deaf and nearly blind for the past 20 years, Lenora sat daily in the open with some boughs at her back, the primitive, unrooted break wind described as the only habitation of many of the Indians at the advent of the spiritual Conquistadors of California. There in the shade of her kish, or jacal, she sat and wove baskets. On Monday she tried to finish a basket, which had been begun over a month ago, but her death intervened, and it remains unfinished. A year hence, when the Indians hold their memorial dance of the dead, this basket will be burned together with whatever articles of clothing she may have left. The government regulations control these customs and prevent harmful waste.

The old basket maker's only living child is Michaolo. She is now 80 years of age. She was at her mother's bedside at the time of her death. Riverside Press.

J. A. August of Elsinore has a force of men working on the new warehouse, which he is building near the railroad tracks south of the depot. The building will be 60 X 150 feet, fireproof, and will be a great benefit to the town and alley. Mr. Nelson of Elsinore has the contract to erect the building. N. L. Slosson and John Chrisman of Elsinore are also working.

Allen & Barnett are making a big success of the truck gardening business, which they started a few months ago. They are selling their produce in San Bernardino and other points and their vegetables are very large and of fine quality. The soil around Temecula is very fertile, and will grow nearly anything. Truck gardening would be a paying industry if we had shipping facilities to San Diego. Our ranchers here hope the Santa Fe will rebuild the gap.

Mac Machado and wife had an automobile accident recently. They were ran into at Fallbrook by another machine, but were not seriously hurt. Mrs. Machado was bruised a little, but is about well. The machine was damaged considerably.

Conductor William H. Haynes has returned home, and is feeling pretty well, although he does not know when he will be able to go to work. His many friends are glad to see him back, and hope that he will gain strength rapidly.

The First National Bank is making rapid growth, and its business has almost doubled during the last few months. Every accommodation is extended consistent with conservative banking business.

Plans Recorded for Temecula Schools

J. O. Tillery, of Beaumont, was in the city today on business connected with the schools. He called at the office of the county superintendent Cree has received word the Temecula district has reemployed J. G. Martin as teacher and that the Trujillo district has employed Miss Sarah E. Woodbury.

Plans for the new Temecula School have been recorded with County Recorder Logan. G. Stanley Wilson is the architect and Frank Ryeson the contractor. The building will be of mission design with shingled exterior walls. It will have a frontage of 120 feet, a cloister running the full length of the frontage. There will be two rooms, an assembly hall, and modern toilet conveniences. The structure will be completed for the fall term of school. It will cost approximately $5,400. - Riverside Enterprise.

July 16, 1915

The new warehouse being constructed by August & Beatty will be ready to receive hay and grain the latter part of this week. Mrs. E. E. Beatty will be bookkeeper for the warehouse here and will shortly move form Perris.

Work is progressing rapidly on the new schoolhouse, and the building will be ready for use when school opens in September.

E. A. Cantarini has accepted a position as clerk in the First National Bank. The business of the new bank is increasing rapidly and is already on a paying basis.

Considerable grain will be hauled to town and stored as soon as the new warehouse is completed.

Temecula can now boast of a lumberyard and a shoe shop. A drug store is one of the prospective lines to be put in soon.

Temecula is not an incorporated town and will therefore get the concrete road through the main part of the town. This is a great thing for Temecula and later on when the town incorporates we will have a paved street if we never get any more.

Temecula National Bank has Fine Record

Elsewhere we call attention to the statement of the First National Bank of Temecula. This bank has been in existence less than a year and now has a business of over $70,000, which is remarkable showing for a bank in a section so remote from the centers of population.

A few months ago the average financier would have hooted at the idea of starting a bank at Temecula, but Eli E. Barnett, Mr. Burnham, C. P. Shumate and other far sighted business men were of the opinion it would be a paying proposition and their judgment was exceedingly good for the bank is already on a paying basis. C. P. Shumate is cashier, and already has been compelled to have an assistant in the person of Mr. Cantarini, a bright young man and son of Auguste Cantarini. Mr. Shumate is making a big success of the bank.

Temecula, The Coming Section

It does not take a prophet to forecast the future of the Temecula valley. There is no section in Riverside County or anywhere for that matter, where nature has been more lavish in bestowing certain gifts. Temecula has been the cattleman's paradise for the last thirty years, and fortunes have been accumulated by the cattlemen. But a change is coming about and Temecula will soon be put on the map in big, bold type.

New Bank Paves the Way

It is the general rule of business that the town is built and a demand is created for the bank, but Temecula is an exception. Eli E. Barnett, George A. Burnham, Mac Machado, Auguste Cantarini, C. P. Shumate and others interested in the development of the valley decided that a good bank would materially assist in developing the community and they accordingly launched the First National Bank of Temecula. The bank has had a good business from the start and has already loaned about $35,000. A bank building of concrete, costing over $10,000 was erected and the bank is now comfortably installed in one of the best buildings in the county. Eli E. Barnett is president and C. P. Shumate is cashier of this institution. The directors are Auguste Cantarini, George A. Burnham and Mac Machado. The bank already has deposits of nearly $50,000.

The Cattle Business

Thousands of cattle are shipped very month from the Pauba Ranch and by other, cattlemen to Los Angeles and other points. Temecula also furnishes the meat markets of Elsinore, Riverside and other towns with best, the best to be gotten anywhere. There are thousands of acres of land where alfalfa grows the year round without irrigation and enormous crops are produced. The grazing land in this section is not surpassed. The past year the wheat and barley crop was heavy and the dry ranchers were enriched by thousands of dollars. Vegetables, corn, apples and peaches will grow to perfection on the higher lands.

Stone Quarries are Busy

Trainloads of granite paving blocks are shipped from Temecula and this industry furnishes employment for many people. There are several quarries and work is being pushed on a large order of blocks, for the Pacific Electric people. The blocks when made bring $55 (?) per thousand.

Inducements to Home Seekers

Temecula offers great inducements to homeseekrs. There is being opened a large tract of land which can be purchased in five ten or twenty acres and the opportunity is offered to get a foothold in this rich section.

$10,000 Grammar School

A new $10,000 union grammar school building is being erected the bonds having been voted several months ago. Other new buildings are promised and all in all, Temecula has the prospects of rapid and substantial development.

Already the town has several stores, which would be a credit to a much larger community.

Elsinore Stars Win over Temecula Team

The Elsinore Stars came home triumphant yesterday afternoon from the Murrieta Hot Springs diamond, where they faced the Dusky Lads from Land of the Temeculas. The game was anybody's until the last inning. Then the Stars rallied and brought six runs across the plate, which won the battle. The score had been very close until then.

First one side was ahead then the other making the game the more exciting and interesting. In the third or fourth inning the Temeculas were one run ahead of the Stars and thought they had the world on a downhill pull, but they soon found the pull to be going the other way.

Two men on and BINGO Sketter Wright wraps out a two-bagger and made the lead of the Temeculas look sick. But they rallied and succeeded in tying the score, but that was as far as they ever got. The scream of the whole act was when Berry knocked the pill clear over the inferno regions of right field and only took three bases when he might made hoe had he hurried a little. No one said a word for a moment, the crowd had ceased their cheering and the players were going back to their positions when a yowl that would make the coyote take a back seat, came up from the players bench and a tall duskey thundered, "Meester Oompire" he roared "dat's foul bawl." Both umpires looked at each other in amazement for neither had watched the ball again the dusky roared "dat's foul bawl." All right" said the Ump "foul ball" and sent Mr. Berry back to the batters box to try again. The final score rested with the odds in favor of the Stars by a margin of 12 to 6.
